Senator Aldrich communicated this fact to President Taft in the course of a long conference at the White House yesterday, in which Secretary Knox and Secretary MacVeagh participated. The objection of senators to a national inheritance tax arises from the fact that several of the states now impose such a tax upon their citizens. The view of the objecting senators is that a national tax of this character should be levied only in case of war, and that the states should deal with the subject as a state-revenue raiser.

According to announcement made by Harvey Given, assistant United States attorney, last night, Phillips will be brought to trial early next month. When asked about the seemingly unusual delay in calling Phillips before the court for a ing was postponed to enable the detectives working on the case to obtain one very important link in the chain of circumstantial evidence by which the prosecutors expect to fasten the crime of killing the saloon keeper on Phillips.

Sufficient evidence was taken before the grand jury last spring to result in the indictment of Phillips. The detectives had learned indirectly, however, of some additional evidence, which in their opinion, clinches the charge, and the government attorneys regarded that as essential before going to trial.

Long Search Rewarded. For months, in fact ever since the indictment was brought last July, the detectives have been at work to unearth that positive evidence, and it was only within the last months that their work are a scarcity in this city today, most was rewarded. When it was found, the government attorneys took immediate steps to have the case set for trial and the counsel for the prisoner was notified recently that the case would probably come up early in April. An earlier date was not possible because the trials of other prisoners indicted prior to the finding of the true bill against Phillips had been previously set. Phillips, it is said, has shown more than ordinar interest in the cases of others who have been in prison charged with taking human life. Several times since ne reached the prison he has seen others go to court and return, some to serve long sentences and others to pay the extreme penalty of the law. It is said at the jail that the colored man has been especially solicitous for those under sentence of Others Under Murder Charge. There are seven other persons in the prison accused of having taken human life, three of them having been tried. Henry Schrifogle, alias "Ducky" Holmes, who shot and killed Mrs. M. E. Hamilton, has been convicted and sentenced to by the court for the execution to take place. Robert McCulic, Indian, who inhas been sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, having entered a plea of About 10 per cent, it is said, are in- guilty to a charge of second degree murder. He will spend his term of imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth. The third of the trio of convicted men is Caleb Grigsby, colored, who used a wrench as a weapon when he became involved in a row with another colored man evitable after April 1 in the anthracite named George Plummer. The row occurred in an office building where the men were employed. Grigsby was convicted of a charge of manslaughter, but sentence has not yet been imposed. Po-awaiting trial. Martin, who was employed in the government printing office, is accused of the murder of his wife at their home in Hillsdale, it being charged that he shot her after they had quarreled about a penic. Triling is accused of the marder of Mrs. Lucretia Corliss, his grandmother, at 612 Crossin at the Home of the Aged and Infirm, where both were inmates.
